Physician Retention

When your physicians come to you with requests for time off, do you ask favors from an already overextended member of the medical staff to provide coverage, or do you pick up the phone and call for a STAFF SAVING alternative....LOCUM TENENS?

A well-qualified locum tenens physician can provide the needed relief to your medical staff without having to risk burning out your key physicians.

Some of the most common causes of physician turnover cited are— longer hours, more night and weekend call than expected and not enough time off.

Keep your medical staff happy and your physician retention rates high this year.

SPRING BREAK is just around the corner— call us today to check on availability and rates.

66.7% of physicians surveyed reported experiencing burnout
